Foreword

We, the members of the one-hundredth graduating class of this high school, present this TALISMAN as tangible evidence of the steady progress of education in our community.

It is indeed a privilege for us to be graduates of a school that can so proudly boast of its century-long development and growth.

The sands trickling through the hourglass have allotted us the time for this twenty-sixth edition of our yearbook. We shall find herein recorded much for us to treasure of the story of the four years we spent here, and of the rich tradition that dates back to that Commencement when the first graduates of our Alma Mater set out to meet their challenges as we are doing today.

Dedication

MISS HELEN T. PERRY

We, the seniors of the centennial class of Rutland High School, dedicate our TALISMAN to who, while carrying on her duties as school secretary, offered us much friendly advice and direction. Her ready and willing manner will ever be one of our special memories as we leave.

History of Rutland High School

"In this Atomic Age, with its kaleidoscopic panorama, all eyes look forward. The events of even a few years ago seem eras away in time, and all perspective is lost. The youth of today is especially prone to neglect the past. He considers history in any form as some evil to be endured in the course of formal education. He lives for today and dreams of tomorrow, with hardly a thought of what has gone before. Yet there are a few who do realize that little in this world is spontaneous; that what we meet today and must face tomorrow is a product of the past; and, what is more important, that knowledge which is gleaned from bygone days is a most valuable tool for gauging the present and planning the future."

The exciting Gold Rush had come and gone, and the second half of the eighteen hundreds was just underway when a simple four-room academy on Main Street in Rutland was "superseded by the Union School." The establishment of public high schools "by the union of contiguous districts" was authorized by the Legislature of Vermont in 1841. "On the 6th of April, 1855, by a public meeting of the districts the union was consummated, and soon after a high school was established." When growth in population in the village prompted an addition to the school, rooms were added on the Center Street side, and somewhat later a new wing was annexed; thereafter, the main entrance was from Center Street.

During its first year the Rutland Union High School had an enrollment of 199 ladies and gentlemen pursuing either of the two courses offered, English or English and Classical. The subjects studied were arithmetic, geography, history, grammar, algebra, poetry and prose, composition, physiology, astronomy, botany, rhetoric, intellectual philosophy, moral science, surveying, analytical geometry, calculus, chemistry, geology, zoology, logic, political economy, theology, Latin and Greek. In the early years teacher-training was one of the main aims of the high school course. Changes in the curriculum occurred, of course, as the needs of the time dictated. Six languages in all have been taught—English, German, French, Italian, Latin, and Greek.

The size of classes has varied through the years, too. In the first class of graduates, that of 1857, were three young ladies—Miriam E. Barrett, Emma M. McClure, and Mary E. Root. In 1890 there were no graduates, but in 1934 a class of 196 received diplomas. In a century our high school has sent out 6,149 graduates.

Records show that diplomas were not presented before 1872. The class of 1880 originated the idea of a class motto and chose: "Non palma sine pulvere." School colors were not chosen until the school had been in existence for thirty-five years. Beginning in the eighties and up until 1925, the year when the school seal was designed and accepted, the passing on of the key of knowledge from one senior class to the next was a tradition. The present-day hatchet ceremony has taken the place of the former practice. In earlier days commencement exercises were held in the morning, while Class Day was an afternoon affair, followed that same evening by a Senior Reception in the opera house.

By 1894 commercial subjects had been added to the curriculum, and now three courses of study were available as a Classical Course had been added to the two taught from the beginning. Music had been a required subject and did not become an elective until after the turn of the century. Musicals were given regularly in the eighties, and glee clubs were formed, but there was no band nor orchestra until much later. In the early nineteen hundreds musical activities were popular, but it was November 8, 1929 before a band appeared on the streets of Rutland under the sponsorship of Rutland High School. School music was given such an impetus when Frank C. Phillips was director that it has grown to be a major activity in the last twenty-five years.

A club program seems to have begun with the organization of a prize-speaking contest; this was followed by a French club. Oratorical and debating clubs have flared up, only to die down. The first senior play was presented in 1899 and the proceeds that year and for several years after went toward paying for class trips. The Oread, appearing in the early nineteen hundreds, was the first literary production of the school and developed later into the Red and White. A sixty-four page magazine known as the Red and White appeared first in 1920, and continued to be published for several years in the months of October, December, March, and June. In 1929, upon the publication of the school's first separate yearbook, the Red and White became the four-page weekly newspaper, it is today. The yearbook was named Talisman.

Before 1900 the only school sports were those organized by student groups. Until 1916, sports were coached by unpaid, interested volunteers. Harold I. O'Brien, a faculty member, assumed the duties of coach of football, basketball, and baseball, then. Under Coach O'Brien, a pioneer in athletics in the state; and a series of outstanding athletic leaders, Rutland has attained phenomenal, far-reaching success. It can surely boast of coaches and champions deserving the cheers following the "Hobble Gobble" that had its origin back in 1890.

At a special meeting on February 20, 1867 the Rutland Graded School district, which incorporated all grade schools in the village including Rutland High School, was voted. In 1878, the governing body of the school system was changed to the Board of Education. In 1893, by an act of the legislature, a city charter having been granted, the Rutland Graded School district was abolished and all school property turned over to the city. At that time the Board of Education became the Board of School Commissioners.

Alfred Thompson, Samuel H. Erskine, and Isaac Thomas were principals, respectively, from the time the city took over the management of its schools until 1916, when Edward S. Abbott became the high school principal. Now, a plea for more room began to be heard, and by 1920 the need for room was so acute that an active campaign for a new school was imperative. On November 30, 1927, during the principalship of Mr. Abbott's successor, Mr. Leslie O. Johnson, excavation was begun on an ideal site, selected because it was almost exactly in the center of high school population. The former Baxter property provided ample room for an athletic field development.

In September, 1928, the overcrowded conditions at the old high school made it necessary to divide the student body; the two lower classes attended the high school, and the juniors and seniors were transferred to Longfellow School, with half-day sessions for all. That year saw the new school take shape at the corner of Library Avenue and Church Street with its main entrance on Library Avenue. The building, "an outstanding educational building of the state," was completed early in 1929 at an expense of $400,000.

On February 8, 1929 the long-awaited day arrived, and all classes were reunited under one roof. The old high school was now named Meldon Junior High School, honoring a teacher who had taught in Rutland for over fifty years. Six hundred and sixty students had entered the new school on that first day. The first assembly, the dedication of the school on March 19, 1929, was an occasion to be remembered. Judge Julius A. Wilcox conferred the oath of office on Vesta Ridlon, president of the newly-organized Student Council. The judge pointed out in his address that it cost $300 a day to operate the new school. For a time, finishing touches continued to be added to the school.

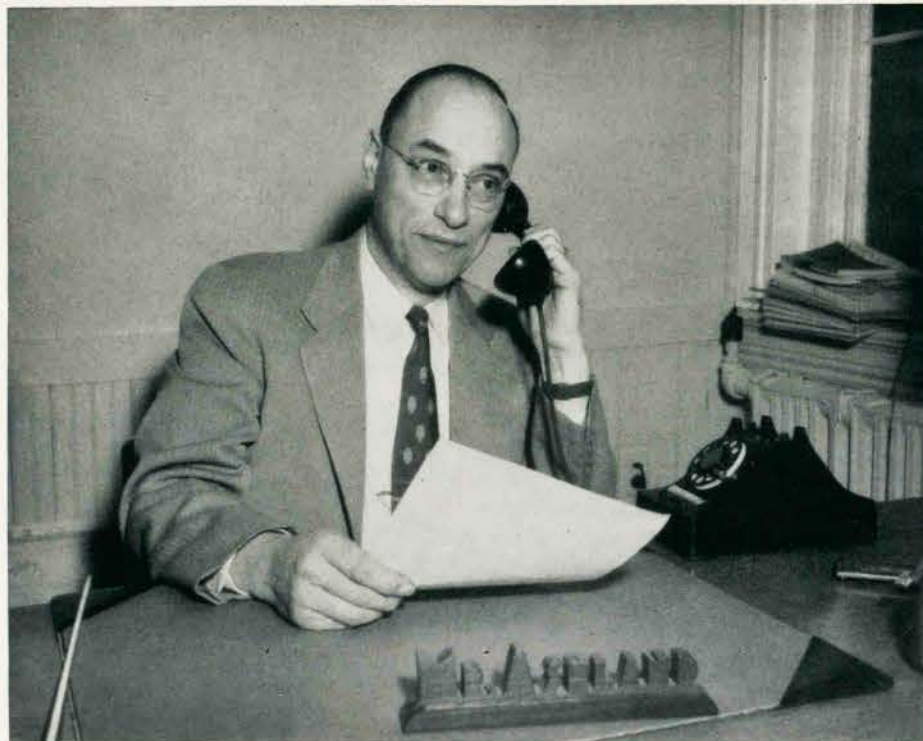

That first year the athletic field was completed. A huge parade with Governor John E. Weeks, city and school officials participating, celebrated its opening on September 19, 1929. It was another occasion to pay tribute to Mr. W. W. Fairchild, Superintendent of Schools, who had been working so tirelessly to bring ambitious plans into being.

Mr. Frank W. Mayo, who succeeded Principal Johnson in 1931, served for fourteen years; at his resignation, Mr. Arthur M. Guild, a high school faculty member, was chosen for the post. In 1953 Mr. Guild, deciding to leave the educational field, resigned.

During the principalship of Mr. Mayo an important addition to the high school was the trade school built in 1940 at a cost of $30,000. More than 3000 persons have already received training there. Daytime classes are held for students from this high school and from Mount Saint Joseph Academy. In evening classes, conducted since 1945, courses in machine shop, auto mechanics, welding, woodworking, painting, printing, plumbing, watch repairing, drafting, carpentry, electricity, and sheetmetal work are offered. At present over 100 adults are enrolled. Unfortunately, the annex is already inadequate to meet the demands of present-day industry and business.

Today, Rutland High School has a faculty of thirty-four and a student body of nearly six hundred. Principal Maynard C. Robinson, who succeeded Mr. Guild in 1953, is the seventeenth principal of Rutland High School as well as the bearer of the title, Centennial Principal of Rutland High School.

PRESIDENT

JAMES S. ABATIELL

Fellow Seniors:

As a class group we have many notable achievements to our credit. Likewise certain individuals have risen from our group and have been recognized as outstanding in fields ranging from football to music. Nevertheless, the most significant trait of our class has always been its spirit of cooperation. All our achievements are due to this basic trait which we have developed during our years together in high school.

Whatever we have made of ourselves we owe to ourselves. The opportunities for mental and physical advancement offered us at Rutland High School are sufficient, if applied correctly, to enable all of us to develop true and worthy goals to work towards. The instructors have instructed, the teachers have taught, the directors have directed, the advisors and advised—they have put in their time, and so have we—they have been paid; and, if we have been diligent and faithful in our efforts, we have collected our payment in the form of a valuable education.

I believe that no matter where the future leads us as individuals, our class will always be living proof that the educated man is superior to the man who is not learned.

I speak for the Class of '55 when I say, Thank you, citizens of Rutland.

Class History

MARTHA DOUGLASS -- BEVERLY FEE

Four short years ago a hundred and fifty-four human forms meekly slipped through the doors of RHS. We were "warmly" met in the streets of Bagdad by our plotting elders. Our first step in self defense was to turn our guide posts over to Norman Swanson, Dick Thomas, and Joan Looker. We were represented in the big council by five loyal Frosh, Pete Billings, Claire Burke, Jesse Ginsburg, Russell Shedd, and Pete Spaulding.

In the fall of '52 we again entered the halls of RHS, but as self-assured sophomores. Our offensive was organized under the leadership of Norm Swanson, Ronnie Edwards and Pete Spaulding. Our council speakers were Jim Ballard, Pat Dodge, Joan Looker, Dick Thomas, and Norm Swanson. The council's books and money were safely guarded by Norm. Our major move of the year was "Spring is Sprung," engineered by Lynn Day and aides.

We dashed madly into our headquarters as upperclassmen in the fall of '53. Our ingenious class was skillfully guided by Norm Swanson, Martha Douglass, and Pete Sloan. At this time the leader of the upper council was assisted by Norm Swanson, with moral support from Jim Abatiell, Ronnie Edwards, and Joan Looker. Jesse Ginsburg led our forces in the preparation of our first formal affair, "Moonlight Madness," which turned out to be a success.

Now came a turning point in our history. Worthy members stepped forward from the ranks to receive their awards. Mary Hinsman received third prize in the DAR Essay Contest and second district prize in the Edmunds Essay Contest. Herbert Tappan received second state prize in the Edmunds Essay Contest. Peter Sloan won third prize on the "Help the Handicapped" Essay Contest, and Stetson Edmunds was presented the Harvard Book Award. At the National Honor Society Assembly, Pat Dodge, Martha Douglass, Mary Hinsman, Joan Looker, Peter Sloan, and Norman Swanson were announced as new members from our class. Five girls and eight boys were selected to represent our class at Girls' and Boys' State, respectively; Norm Swanson was governor of Boys' State. One of the proudest days in our history came when twenty-eight of our classmen were appointed Monitors.

We, the elders of RHS, started our last year by welcoming the Frosh in "The Underground." Our group was guided for the last time as a class by James Abatiell, Harold Burke, Peter Sloan, and Dick Thomas. For our final appearance in the Big Council, Norm Swanson acted as president with Martha Douglass and Jim Abatiell as representatives.

One of the main events of the year was the senior play, "Mother Is a Freshman," starring Carol Brown, Gail Marsh and David Seward. Under the able direction of Mrs. Morrill and student director Martha Douglass, the play was a huge success.

The Talisman, our four-year service record, was compiled by Editor-in-chief Bill Tarbell and his editorial staff aided by the efforts and co-operation of Irene Burditt and the business board.

Late in the senior year more honors were bestowed upon members of the class. Herbert Tappan won first local prize in the American Legion Oratorical Contest; while Martha Douglass was chosen as the DAR Good Citizenship Girl of our class. Joan Looker was crowned 1955 Winter Carnival Queen. The year was rounded out by the honoring of more classmen with National Honor Society membership and the announcement of graduation honors.

Our class can be proud of the records its members have attained in various fields of school activities. They dove in with the warriors' spirit and came out victorious.

The field of music, divided into Chorus, Band, and Orchestra, is one in which many of our class have excelled, as shown by our All-State and All-New England records. We have been represented at All-State Chorus by Pat Milne, Marilyn Svenson, Norman Swanson, Carol Kallio, Charlotte Fournier, and Jesse Ginsburg; and at All-New England Chorus by Charlotte Fournier, Jesse Ginsburg, Whitney Butterfield, Joan Petraglia, Norm Swanson, Pat Milne, Carol Kallio, and Herbert Tappan. Bill Tarbell, assistant director of the band, has been to All-State for four years, and All-New England Orchestra, for two years; while Dick Mills, has been to All-State Band three times. James Abatiell has also been to All-State Band. Joan Petraglia went to All-State Orchestra her first two years. The outstanding musician of our class is Joyce Chesley who has been to All-State Orchestra four times, All-New England Orchestra two times, and to All-Eastern Conference High School Orchestra, in Boston, Massachusetts, one year.

The classmen of '55 have been unusually active in such groups as Mimes, Red and White, Library Council, and the Girls' Athletic Association. Some of the outstanding activities during our four years of school are "Fall Fantasy" sponsored by the Monitors, IRC Talent Shows, and Shakespeare's Birthday Festival, a project of Mimes. The class proudly claims the birth of the Freshman Orientation Program.

The class salutes Joan Petraglia and Patricia Dodge as Editor-in-Chief and Associate Editor of the Red and White, Martha Douglass, Business Manager; and Beverly Fee, Carol Brown and Peter Sloan, department heads. Harold Burke also held special honors as the Head Monitor.

A number of the Senior Class of '55 were enrolled in the Trade and Industrial Course. Shop practice is the major part of this course and many of our boys have been outstanding in shop work. Not only do some of the boys receive honors for their work, but they also have the material things they create and repair.

Many of our young athletes went out for various sports during our freshman year. In J.V. basketball we completed the year with eight wins and two losses. Home room 213 was Freshman Champion. One of our classmen, Dick Thomas, made varsity baseball. The boys made their first major appearance in football as sophomores. "Satch" Burke, Dick Foltz, and Jim Ballard were promoted to the varsity basketball team. The pace for the J.V. team was set by several members of our class. Home room 117 was the class champ in home room basketball and runner-up for School Basketball Champion. Appearances were being made by our boys in other sports, especially track. Norm Swanson and Dick Thomas were our two outstanding participants in baseball, as they were lettermen. We headed into our junior year with sports as one of our main class interests. We are proud to say we had ten lettermen in football. The team was under the management of Brownson Spencer. Thomas, Foltz, Ballard, and Billings represented the class in varsity basketball for the season. Home room 211 was the class champ. Roger Bresnahan received his ski letter. With Stetson Edmunds as track manager, five men went out for the sport from our class. Six men of this class guided by Dick Hughes played on the baseball team. We acclaim Dick Foltz, James Ballard, and Jesse Ginsburg as first-team members of All-State Football, while Richard Thomas made second-team. Captained by James Ballard and Paul Carrara, the team of '54-'55 reached the great goal of State Champ. Roger Bresnahan was captain of the RHS Ski Team for the year 1954-1955. Jim Ballard, as captain, led the Red Raider Basketball Squad to the Southern Vermont Tournament. Good sportsmanship was also displayed by the boys on the baseball and track teams.

The girls were active in such sports as soccer, softball, and field hockey; they sparkled in basketball, both in varsity and all-star. Lynn Day, Mary Hinsman, Judy White, Nancy Johnson, and Joan Looker led in this sport. We point with pride to our girls who were members of the ski team. Mary Hinsman is our "Andrea Mead" of '55. The drill team was formed during our junior year, with Pat Dodge and Carol Brown as leaders. Letters were awarded to other senior girls. Many of the girls were J.V. cheerleaders; from them Carol Kallio and Joan Looker, senior co-captains, Mary Bordeau, and Nancy Johnson joined the varsity squad. Our sophomore year, Lynn Day and Judy White joined the majorette squad; Claire Burke and Virginia Cahee followed the next year. Judy White was Drum Majorette; while Claire Burke was Head Twirler our senior year.

We, the class of 1955, sadly leave the halls of dear old Rutland High. Our record will act as proof that we lived up to our position as the Centennial Class of our school.

Class Prophecy

PATRICIA DODGE ~ BROWNSON SPENCER

It was written in the stars, and with the magical Big Dipper we scooped this out.

It seems that Pete Billings, the eminent philosopher, and Bill Walker, who runs the local gas station, were talking the other day. Billings slipped one of his famous gems of wisdom into the conversation like this: "You know, Bill, it's a wonderful thing that whenever they drill on a corner for a service station they always manage to strike gasoline!"

The Kallio-Foltz Elevated Shoe Company (Does your wife step on your tie while dancing?) has been hailed into court again. States Attorney, Art Bradish, claims that the company's before and after pictures are faked.

Roger Bresnahan, originator of the ten hour work week, has announced the completion of his new office building at Tuckerman's Ravine. He expects to be able to move from his present location at Pico in the middle of May.

Here is a story that Governor Swanson of Vermont likes to tell on himself. One day Durwood Bassett, state trooper, overtook a dump truck of fertilizer flying low down Route Seven. Dick Russell was at the helm. Durwood pulled Dick to the side of the road and snarled up at him: "What's the matter, Mac? Haven't you got a governor on your truck?"

"No," came Dick's carefree reply. "The governor is in Montpelier. That's the fertilizer you smell!"

Dick must have heard some of Normie's speeches at Boys' State.

Robin Prespare has become Boss Lady of the largest paper company in the East. She is now engaged in manufacturing paper products, and has combined this with a dress designing career.

Miss Carlie Burns (alias, our own Carol Brown) has been starring in the Broadway hit "Sophisticate from Six Forks" for the past five months. The critics are also raving about a soon-to-come hit starring Marsha Gale, known in Rutland circles as Gail Marsh. R.H.S. certainly has been well represented in the Big Town.

Since the army started drafting women, a training base has been set up just outside Rutland with top sergeant Irene Burditt drilling the new recruits. Beryl Armstrong is private secretary to Five Star General Russell Shedd, while Judith Wetherby is well on the way toward becoming Major General.

Pete Cotton's characteristic walk has won him a franchise for advertising shoe polish on television. He is now in Peter Bent Brigham Hospital with a case of chilblains due to walking through so much water every Saturday night between knockouts.

John B. Stearns, President of Burnhams, Inc., formerly Brooks Brothers, Inc., has revised the company to such an extent that all the mannequins now have the Stearns build, and strangely enough, even the heads show a remarkable resemblance to the big boss.

Jean Spaulding suddenly skyrocketed to fame with the discovery that she apparently has the same magical powers as Tiny Yokum. One strand of her hair is guaranteed to dye a dress that will knock Dior and Fath off the labels.

The wisest move of the year was made when Harry Chapman built a grove of sugar maples next to the Aunt Jemima Company.

The world premier of Joan Looker's latest cinemascope movie will take place at the Paramount.

Gayle Gibson was recently voted "Mother of the Year, 1984" because of the success achieved by her eight sons. Three of them are eminent medical specialists, two are working for the Atomic Energy Commission, one is president of General Motors, one is a prominent oil tycoon, and the last son owns Harlow's Hydrogen Hop, a local refueling station for jetmobiles.

"Polywog" and "Bug" have taken up life in the South near the Okefenokee Swamp where they are raising their own collection of "insects."

One day when Alvah Adams and Maurice Farnham were "beating around mid de bushes," Maurice asked Alvah: "I hear you left your girl's house early last night. Why'd you leave so early?"

Alvah replied with his Vermont drawl: "Why, we was sittin' on the couch talkin', an' she up and turned off the light! I guess I can take a hint!"

The crash sounded for blocks. Claire Burke jumped out and demanded of Bruce Utley, who had been speeding down Lincoln Avenue (late for work as usual): "Why did you drive into me? I turned the way I signaled."

"I know," answered Bruce, "that's what fooled me!"

Alan Brown has just wired each room in the new high school for Hi-Fi. His words to live by have been, "Music soothes the savage beast."

"Gus-o" Scott has become the country's most successful used cur dealer. Wife Joanie is in charge of labelling each model with the following sign, "Guaranteed house breaker and house broken."

Richard Baird, federal immigration inspector, recently emitted this bit of advice at a press conference: "Never brag about your ancestors having come over in the Mayflower; the immigration laws weren't so strict in those days."

To accompany every Westclox alarm clock, Carolyn has added a Westcot to lie on while waiting for the fateful ring.

Bob Smith recently made a trip to Scotland to see if it was true that Smith is the most common name in the country. Poor Bob thought he was exclusive on that one for once, but no——

Margaret Mitchell has been in the headlines because of her recent investigation of frauds in the government. However, she aroused the animosity of the American public when she tried to obtain a copyright on her latest book.

Sonja Erickson has become Swedish interpreter in the U.N. General Assembly.

Mary Ellen Dunn has made her signature famous on Saturday Evening Post covers. Mr. Rockwell graciously conceded his palette to the charming young artist.

Rosita Dailey and Barbara Carpentier have started a charm school in the Big Town. Rosita teaches poise and clothing hints (it is reported that she has not worn the same outfit twice in two years!); while Barbara handles the Confidence in Conversation course. Classes are very large, and two new instructors have been added with an eye toward a TV position. They are Judith Wilson and Mary Ann Hayward, alumnae of the school.

Cally now follows Medic on Saturday nights. The gay comedy gives the patients a lift!

Barbara Messer has been invited to do exhibition riding on her famous Libison horses before the crowned heads of Europe.

—prophecy and scoffery,
We really didn't mean it,
But, oh, what fun it would have been,
If someone could have seen it!

Class Will

CLAIRE BURKE -- NORMAN SWANSON

Yes, we have a wonderful class. Our STARS are shining as brightly now, as they have in the past. We are confident that they will continue to shine, even brighter, in the future. Here is the final Will of the Starry-eyed Class of 1955, Rutland High School's Centennial Class, written by "Stardust" Burke and "Don't Let the Stars Get in Your Eyes" Swanson.

Gail Wilson has left her "MAIL" box to the lonely hearts club.

Giant Martha Douglass donates a giant economy size box of "Poor Paster Parson Peters' Pink Pills for Pale People" to combat the effects of Howie Douglas's Terrible-Tasty-Tiny-Tidbit-Tablets. The freshmen also are suffering from pampered pelts caused by pushing pencils.

Shy Ronald Balch leaves as quietly as he came.

Mary "Venus" Bordeau leaves with a clock in her hand to keep her dates straight. How about that, Pete?

Ciska "Gum Chewer" Sobotka departs without her regular supply of gum. It seems she has become first Vice-President of the "Dapper Gum Company"?

"Handsome George" Brown drops behind his shop tools to become an ACE salesman for the New York Clothing Company.

Dry Jim Abatiell, our combination of Herb Shriner and George Gobel, gives up his straight face to his little brother Tony.

Nancy "Chatter" Johnson, still wearing her Peter Bunny, leaves in COTTON with a SWIFT man.

Joanie "P" Petraglia departs DONNING a wide smile and with a dog leash around a certain SCOTTie.

Betsy "Brando" Burke leaves, but don't worry, boys; there are more to come.

Dick "Hoot" Thomas leaves this reminder: "Don't ever leave your keys in your car." Why, Dick?

Charles Armstrong, known as the "Chucker," leaves with his sore left arm in a sling after a big baseball season. (OR was it something else, Chuck?)

Mary "Shush" Hinsman wills her fast-moving skis to the Girls' Ski Team to keep giving them success.

Sir Jesse Ginsburg, our Romeo, leaves an incomplete memo. "Girls' day is every Thursday in the ——; you know where he means, don't you, boys?"

Professor Stetson Edmunds, noted chemist, regretfully leaves RHS, in one piece, after many interesting experiments in chemistry. Although all were unsuccessful, everyone got a rise out of him. It seems Stet is glad to pass on much credit to a certain John L.

David "Valentino" Seward presents his heavy right foot to any of the daring drivers of the underclasses. Mike, note that.

Brownson "Velvet Frog" Spencer bequeathes his mellifluous voice to next year's Monitor Squad.

Herb "Einstein" Tappan passes on many things to needy people including: his knowledge of chemistry to Mr. Sloan, his discovery of a gas heavier than lead, and his well-built "Hula Skirt" to Noel Potter.

Kay "Gummy" Lyons leaves some of her gum on the bed post. Kay, "Does the Spearmint Lose Its Flavor on the Bed Post Over Night?"

Joyce "Giggles" Merrill contributes her ability to the school secretary, Miss Perry.

Jim "Tilly" Ballard leaves his stupendous build and his fleet feet to RHS's muscle man "Dumbo" Rounds.

Vivacious Judy White is leaving in chains, dragged, roped, tied, pulled and bound by a rough-looking "Polywog." How about that, Paul?

Silent Janice Wood departs still trying to remember the names of all her brothers and sisters.

Big Dick Hughes or "Napoleon on his High Horse" leaves still trying to persuade Mr. Purdy that his stories are better.

Lucky Nancy Webster walks from RHS on the SONNY side of the street, or does she?

Bill "Gallant" Fucci wills the phone for any person who wants something to do. He seems to find out quite a bit that way.

Petite Persis Brooks came, saw, and conquered; and now leaves with Bill.

Joyce "The Fiddler" Chesley leaves her fiddle to George Fitzsimmons, so that he can play some heavenly music in detention.

Energetic Rona Cox departs for Proctor, and if she doesn't make it, it will BUSTER.

Lynn "Zipper" Day zips away to the Zip Button Company, founded by Miss Diette and Mrs. Sloan. Court action may follow.

Charlie Hudson is sent up the river after serving a five-year sentence at RHS.

Betty Lou Kehoe leaves Sociology class to Miss Moran. Chin up, Betty.

Easy-going "Satch" Burke leaves his Driver's Manual to Stets. (Reason not given)

Lydia Wales gives her famous recipe for PIZZA to all would-be campers. How do you feel, boys?

John Kellogg donates the parking area in his corn field to boys in the Junior Class. (Pretty secluded spot, huh, John.)

Nick "Smiley" Ezzo wills his stupendous size to Jim Stathopoulos. Nick said, "This will help Jim out—of windows that is."

Vivacious Bev Fee left all the weight she lost to all French frail, flustered, flabbergasted females.

Loyal Pat Dodge leaves her pajamas to all interested in PJ parties.

"Baby" Cahee bequeathes her hot-rod Pontiac to Mr. Canary so that his driver training classes can use it for knocking down telephone poles.

Friendly Lorraine Beauchamp gallops to the Midway leaving Mr. McKerley SHORTHANDED.

George Branchaud runs away singing, "Let The Past Just Fade Away."

"Petie-Wity-Bunny-Boo" Spaulding, our latest Casanova, steps out hoping for a WALE of a good time.

Swift Paul Carrara passes on to his brother Bob his speed and cleverness for the next year's football team.

James Fouracre, our "Knight in Shining Armor," hands over his highly treasured book of secluded parking spots to Strattie Anagnos for continued use.

Brainy Thomas Granger bequeathes his GED marks to any student who may need help in graduating in the coming year.

Candy "Cindy" Gates leaves her station wagon, which has BENWAY around the world, as a taxi.

Curly Pete Sloan leaves so Jim Carroll can take over his position as MC on the basketball trips. Pete's advice to Jim, "Don't ever get caught sucking Woodpecker eggs."

Ambitious Pat Milne leaves singing, "I'm Undecided Now So What Am I Going To Do?" Maybe Dick or John can help her out.

Serious Marilyn Svenson gives to all the girls who have man troubles the book she wrote How to Catch and Keep a Man. For proof, see Dick.

Little Pat Jones leaves, this time for good.

Pretty Jeanne LaFond left with Ciska. What is going to happen when one gets married?

Undisturbed, Caroline Louras quietly departs with an air of distinction.

Francis "Howdy Doody" Burney gladly contributes John Stearns's brain for further analysis. It seems that Francis can't figure him out. Can Corinne?

Monitor David Miller hands his Monitor's badge to any boy who might want it. There were a few days when it didn't help him get to school.

Elaine Roberts wills her flying fingers to all future piano players of RHS.

So ends the will of the Centennial Class. As we leave Rutland High for the last time as high school students, may the future hold forth a bright horizon. May none of the members of this great class become falling stars, but may they become shooting stars, aimed high into the sky of success.

Witnesses:

MISS ALICE PATCH,
MR. PETER GOSHGARIAN.

Class Lawyers:

CLAIRE BURKE,
NORMAN SWANSON.

Class Song

Words-PATRICIA DODGE

Through our lives our paths may sever,
 Paved in Rutland High;
 But our class will well remember,
 Open roads and sky.
 Life has taught its lessons well, the
 Voyage we'll not fear,
 For we know that God and friendship
 Ever shall be near.

Before us, goals reveal our purpose,
 We gather strength to aim,
 With our Alma Mater ringing,
 Constant this refrain:
 "Amici usque ad arras,"
 Deep graven on each heart;
 Will be found unwavering true,
 When we from life shall part.

Hitch Your Wagon to a Star

Membership in the National Honor Society is the highest honor a student can attain at Rutland High School. Scholarship, character, service and leadership are the four principles on which the faculty bases the selection of new members.

Those of the class of 1955 who merited election during their junior year were Patricia Dodge, Martha Douglass, Mary Hinsman, Joan Looker, Peter Sloan, and Norman Swanson. This year Mary Hinsman represented Rutland High School in the Brotherhood Conference.

At the induction ceremony held April 14, 1955, new members were initiated into the Society in the traditional impressive ceremony. The seniors chosen were: Carol Brown, Beverly Fee, Gayle Gibson, Margaret Mitchell, Joan Petraglia, Marilyn Svenson, and Herbert Tappan. The juniors selected this year were: Andrea Bellerose, Mary Lou Hinchey, Norma Keefe, Jean Looker, John Hansen, Shirley Monroe, and Donna Pierce.

They will be the officers of the society for 1955-56 and will conduct next year's induction ceremony for more members of their own class and a small percentage of present sophomore class.

Our Guiding Lights

Twenty-seven members of the Class of '55 comprised this year's Monitor Squad. The group of fourteen girls and thirteen boys were chosen by the faculty for their reliability, interest in service, and traits of leadership. Harold Burke was elected head Monitor; while Mary Bordeau served as secretary. Miss Katherine Moran acted as faculty adviser; she was assisted by Mr. Sloan and Miss Bailey. Meetings were held the second and fourth Wednesdays of every month. To raise funds for their treasury, the group sponsored a dance, "Fall Fantasy," on November 12, with Martha Douglass and Joan Petraglia as co-chairmen. Another money-making project popular with many RHSers was the fudge sales. Because of the new telescoped plan, a patrol for supervision during the lunch periods was needed this year for the first time.

The Monitors concluded a year of successful service with a banquet and an assembly. At the last assembly of the year the Monitors passed on their responsibilities to the newly selected juniors.

Star Light, Star Bright

At the end of their junior year eight boys and five girls were selected from the class of '55 to attend Girls' and Boys' States.

James Abatiell, Alvah Adams, Stetson Edmunds, Richard Foltz, Peter Sloan, Brownson Spencer, Norman Swanson, and Herbert Tappan went to Norwich University in Northfield, Vermont as delegates to Boys' State. Patricia Dodge, Martha Douglass, Mary Hinsman, Joan Looker, and Joan Petraglia were the Girls' State delegates. Girls' State was held at Vermont Junior College in Montpelier, Vermont.

A Governor, Norman Swanson; a Secretary of State, James Abatiell; and an Attorney General, Patricia Dodge; all delegates from Rutland High School, were elected.

Others from Rutland High held important positions in their various counties and towns. After a week of successfully carrying on the functions of an imaginary state, our boys and girls returned to RHS prepared to be better citizens.

Editor-In-Chief

JOAN PETRAGLIA

It's Written in the Stars

The Red and White had a very successful year during 1954-1955, under the capable leadership of its Editor-in-chief, Joan Petraglia. Patricia Dodge served as Associate Editor-in-chief; while Martha Douglass managed the business board. Beverly Fee, Carol Brown, and Peter Sloan were news, feature, and sports editors, respectively. Stanley Munsat and Norma Keefe aided the staff in the capacity of assistant editors. Herbert Tappan was the paper's news columnist. The exchanges with other schools in the United States were handled by Gail Marsh who was editor of that department. Miss Madeline Buttles, faculty adviser, helped the staff to allot wisely $1700 among twenty regular issues and two special, six-page-issues for Christmas and Commencement.

On Mondays, assignments were posted on the press board for the writers. The staff was a friendly, harmonious, and co-operative one. The purpose of the paper was to bring to the students of RHS current school news. In the coming year, Norma Keefe and Stanley Munsat as co-editors, and Richard Coburn as business manager will continue to carry on the policy of their predecessors.

Stars to Steer By

The Student Council has been really active this year in carrying on the student government of our school. The cry "Inspection" and the simultaneous appearance of a group of homeroom presidents are what most students connect with this group.

The Council started its year by selling popcorn, candy, and peanuts at the football games, and candy after school. A committee was formed this year to publish the assembly schedule a month ahead of time; so the students would know how to plan their study halls.

A boy in the senior class was chosen each month by the Student Council members to represent Rutland High School at the Lions Club. The Council has helped in many ways around the school, and in addition had several projects of its own such as helping to send Care food packages to needy people.

The Association of Vermont Student Councils held its meeting in November at Windsor. Norman Swanson, president; John Hansen, Brenda Hubbard, Charles Lull, and Mary Lou Hinchey attended the state meeting with the faculty adviser, Mr. Howard Douglas.

The Council is planning to support a week of model government within the school during next year. It will be modeled after Girls' and Boys' State and will give ideas on active participation in government to all the students of our school.

Libra Constellation

The main purpose of the Library Council is to stimulate the interest of students in reading, and in using the library. In carrying out this purpose each year the Council sponsors Book Week and arranges an assembly pertaining to it. Irene Burditt acted as Chairman, and Glenda Lamb served as Secretary, this year.

During Book Week a large number of books was displayed in the library, and carried out the slogan, "Reading is Fun." Students were urged to examine the books and vote for those, books that should be purchased.

The highlight of Book Week was an assembly in which four students, Marilyn Svenson, Herbert Tappan, Alan Brown, and Joyce Chesley presented short talks on their hobbies, explaining how books provided them with knowledge pertaining to their particular hobbies.

Also, there were various hobbies displayed on the tables in the library for those who wished to examine them.

Time Marches On

What would a football game be like without the maroon-clad members of the band doing a half-time precision drill? This year our band made a welcome appearance and performed at all the home games and traveled to our game at Springfield.

The band also participated in many parades such as the Veterans' Day and Memorial Day parades in Rutland. The band also marched in the Memorial Day exercises at Crown Point, New York.

William Tarbell was selected as student director. This year for the first time, RHS musicians participated in the Mount Royal Music Festival in Mount Royal, Quebec. Anthony Abatiell, Marie Bell, and Richard Mills were selected to represent our band there.

On March 25th and 26th fifty musicians from Laconia, New Hampshire, under the direction of Mr. Bernard Williams, visited Rutland. Mr. Williams and Mr. Low planned and presented an excellent joint concert with the two bands.

On March 31st, April 1st, and 2nd, selected members of the band participated in the New England Concert Festival held in Rutland for the first time. Members of the RHS band who participated in this festival were: Marie Bell, Belle Backon, James Leonard, and James Abatiell.

On April 6th, the band presented their annual concert for the Community Club at the Mead Community House. On April 15th and 16th, the band visited Laconia, where under the direction of Mr. Low and Mr. Williams, a joint concert was presented.

On April 23, Keene, New Hampshire band, under the direction of Mr. Cook, visited Rutland. They presented a joint concert with our band in return for the concert played in Keene last year.

These musicians were: Richard Mills, Alan Ianni, James Abatiell, Robert Swanson, Richard Coburn, Thomas Keefe, Gustavus Crowell, Lois Wilder, Belle Backon, Marie Bell, Glenda Lamb, Deborah Butterfield, and Wilma Goodrich.

On May 20th, while on the way to the New England Audition Festival, our band stopped at Groton, Connecticut for an exchange concert with the Groton High School band.

On May 21st, our band participated in the New England Audition Festival held at the University of Rhode Island.

The last trip of a very full and successful season was to Crown Point for Memorial Day, an annual trip.

Members of the class of 1955 in the band have participated in a very successful year with Mr. Low.

Meteorites

The Strutting Stars of RHS this year were: Drum Majorette, Judithe White; Head Twirler, Claire Burke; and a glittering squad composed of Lynn Day, Virginia Cahee, Sally Mitchell, Joanne Wood, and Carol Gamsby. Next year's replacements are Dorene Hector, Sally Edmunds, Gail Rollins, Martha Czymadia, and Mary O'Connell.

Successful projects of the majorettes during the year were the Valentine dance, fudge sales, and the making of lighted batons. The proceeds of the dance and of the fudge sales went toward paying for the new uniforms and a trip to Laconia with the band.

These lovely twirlers accompanied the band on many of its trips and were an added entertainment feature at most of our football games.

This club afterward donated a sum of money toward choir robes for the chorus. The last Christmas performance was given for the student body at the annual Christmas assembly.

The chorus also gave concerts with Laconia and Keene, New Hampshire high schools. At the Audition Festival in Rhode Island and in Springfield, Vermont, it received excellent ratings.

Big Dipper

Carol Brown and Gayle Gibson were student directors and the scenes were taken from "Twelfth Night," "The Taming of the Shrew," "Romeo and Juliet," "The Merchant of Venice," and "Macbeth." The production was presented in an assembly and to the public. The many parts provided an opportunity to act to a large group of students.

Carol Brown was president of Mimes; Carol Kallio, vice-president; Lydia Wales, secretary; and Peter Sloan, treasurer. Mrs. Mabel Morrill was the faculty adviser. Jesse Ginsburg, as program chairman, arranged a number of very interesting programs. At one meeting, Miss Bailey gave an informative talk on French Drama. The stage crew provided a conducted tour of operations backstage, and an Eugene O'Neil play was read at other meetings.

New this year was the idea of awarding drama mask pins to members meriting them. To be eligible for a pin one must have been active in a production and maintained good attendance.

The members had fun at their Christmas party, annual picnic, and at Waikiki, the club's annual "Big Project."

The I.R.C. presented assemblies featuring a speaker from Ireland, Mr. Brian Farrell, and Miss Ratti Cooper of Pakistan. Mr. Guenter Kaymer was their guest at a reception held in the school cafeteria.

Twenty-two I.R.C.ers spent four days in New York City during the April vacation, visiting the United Nations and enjoying several side trips. There were several entrants in the 29th annual High School Contest on the U.N. Forty-five dollars was collected for the Care Book Shelf.

Stardust on Their Brushes

The Art Club is an organization with the specific purpose of giving any student who wishes, a chance to exercise his creative abilities with the various media provided in the art department. One need not be a member of any of the art classes to be eligible.

The club works on a very informal basis. The students indulge in individual work for self-appreciation, or for the benefit of classes and student organizations.

Regular meetings are held every Monday night in the art room, under the direction of Miss Lucy Doane.

Wonders of the Universe

As it celebrates its second birthday, following a lapse and a rejuvenation, the Science Club, under the direction of Mr. Christie Drago, can be proud of the progress it has made in developing "better human relations, better science understandings, and better school harmony and spirit." The club this year was headed by Kathryn Hector and had Carol Whyte as vice-president, and Brenda Hubbard as secretary-treasurer.

The club is divided into groups, such as a radio club, which has a short-wave radio that can transmit for quite a distance, and a photography club which studied photography under the direction of Bartlett Studios for the Kodak Company.

The club helped a great deal in the Tuberculosis Seal Drive, and also earned money for their own projects by sponsoring a successful dance, "Hay-Ride Hop."

Stellar Performers

This year the Girls' Athletic Association has had a larger membership than in any other previous year. The organization consists of all girls from the four classes who are interested in sports, have paid the annual dues, and who belong to the Athletic Association.

G.A.A. membership entitles one to play in both intramural and varsity sports, such as field hockey, basketball, softball, and skiing.

This year the G.A.A. held several game nights, which were preceded by covered-dish suppers. At the first supper meeting the freshman girls were welcomed with an enjoyable initiation. During the year the G.A.A. also sponsored a dance, and an award assembly. Five members sponsored by the G.A.A. were sent from Rutland High School to a Teacher-Student Conference at the University of Vermont where they were taught to encourage, develop, and organize girls' sports. Claire Burke, Barbara LaCoe, Andrea Bellerose, Mary Ellen Russell, and Neville Rodgers were selected.

Football

Pigskin toters of the Class of 1955 came out as State Interscholastic Football Champs. Running true to form, a championship on the gridiron every three years, the 1954 edition racked up seven wins and one tie. Led by nine seniors, who were green frosh when the Flaitzmen were last State Champs, the Redmen proved almost invincible; only Brattleboro was able to come close to touching them, holding the Warriors to a seven-to-seven tie. Otherwise the record was unblemished, as the Rutlanders rolled over their other seven opponents.

The Red Raiders opened the season with a bang, scoring a 25-6 victory over Bennington. The Warriors scored twice in each half, as they racked up win number one easily. Dick Thomas crashed over for the first two tallies; while Jim Ballard and Russ Shedd added the finishing touches. "Ginger" Kent and Jesse Ginsburg paced the defensive charges.

Co-Captain Jim Ballard blasted through Barre the following week for three touchdowns, as Rutland won 18-6. A pass from sophomore quarterback "Chuck" Lull netted the first Rutland score. Ballard then ran wild, scoring on scoots of 16 and 5 yards. Dick Foltz and Paul Donahue added their names to the defensive standouts; while Kent and Ginsburg played great ball.

The defense took over the spotlight as Rutland edged Burlington 13-9 in the next tussle. Jim Ballard scored on runs of 39 and 67 yards the first two times Rutland got the ball, but after that it was nip and tuck all the way. A goal line stand at the one-foot line, and great all-round defensive play led the Flaitzmen down the victory trail for their third straight win. Dick Thomas, "Ginger" Kent, Norm Swanson, and "Chuck" Lull were outstanding on the defense.

In their next assignment the powerful Redskins hit their offensive peak with a 40-7 victory over Bellows Falls. It was the fourth straight victory for the RHSers, and Jim Ballard again paved the way with four touchdown runs. The speedy Rutland co-captain scampered across the goal line on runs of 70, 70, 59, and 20 yards. Ballard accounted for better than 200 of Rutland's 300 yards gained. Jesse Ginsburg again led the defensive charges.

On the following Saturday Brattleboro put the only dent in the Rutland record by holding them to a 7-7 tie. The underdog Raiders drew first blood on a crashing 24 yard run by Jim Ballard. Pete Beebe spoiled Rutland's chances of a perfect record when he bulleted over after Lapan's touchdown. Dick Thomas side-stepped into the offensive spotlight, when the powerful Colonels succeeded in bottling up Ballard. Al Ianni, who practically lived in the Bratts' backfield, was the number one man in the defensive show.

Springfield threw a scare into the Champs before bowing 14-12. Jim Ballard intercepted a pass in the closing minutes to stop a Cosmos drive, and sure defeat for the Rutlanders. "Ginger" Kent scored his first touchdown and Ballard went over from the five yard line to account for Rutland's tallies. "Chuck" Lull booted both extra points to give Flaitz's footballers the two point margin. Paul Carrara was the defensive hero with seven tackles.

Undefeated and untied, Cathedral proved to be vulnerable, and Rutland handed them an 18-0 defeat, and knocked them out of the running for the state championship. Rain failed to stop the high-flying Redmen as they gained 225 yards on the ground, while highly-rated Cathedral gathered only 70 yards. Jim Ballard's spectacular running again paced the Warriors to victory. The swivel-hipped fullback ran 33 yards through the Cathedral secondary and returned a punt 50 yards, while "Ginger" Kent bulled across for the final tally. Wayne King was a demon on defense, while Jesse Ginsburg and Dick Thomas added the finishing touches to the Queen City eleven.

Veterans' Day proved that red ripples were in style, and the powerhouse RHS gridiron boys sunk the Green Wave of MSJ, 58-0. The "54" edition of the Flaitzmen established a scoring-high by bettering the previous record by nine points. Jim Ballard scored four times to establish a new scoring record for RHS with a total of 18 in eight tussles. Dick Thomas was a whirlwind on defense and added two more paydirt runs, while "Ginger" Kent, "Pete" Billings, and "Chuck" Lull also got in on the TD parade.

Late in December, when results of the All-State balloting were announced, the Rutlanders were ranked State Champs, and Coach Flaitz named "Outstanding Coach" of the year. With the aid of assistant coach "Bundsie" Keefe, Flaitz inspired his charges to the Championship. Three of the Rutland eleven were put on the All-State team. Jim Ballard, who led the state in scoring, was given the fullback berth. Jesse Ginsburg was selected for a tackle post on the basis of his brilliant defensive play, while Dick Foltz, a tower of strength at center, was elected to the pivot. Halfback Dick Thomas, a defensive wizard, as well as a potential scoring threat, was elected to the second team. Co-Captain Paul Carrara received honorable mention to cap a great football campaign.

The defensive-minded Warriors were tops in the state in this field holding their opponents to just under six points a game, while on the offensive side of the story the Redmen averaged 24.1 counters per tilt. Jim Ballard totaled 108 points to lead the team point wise. Dick Thomas added 36 on six touchdown runs. "Ginger" Kent and "Chuck" Lull followed with 19 and 18 points, respectively. Russ Shedd and "Pete" Billings rounded out the Rutland scoring with six apiece.

Twenty-five members of this year's squad, including fourteen seniors were awarded letters. The Championship eleven was led by Co-Captains Paul Carrara and Jim Ballard. "Pete" Billings, Norm Swanson, Paul Donahue, Dick Thomas, Jesse Ginsburg, Dick Foltz, "Paydirt Pete" Spaulding, Russ "Elroy Hirsch" Shedd, Jim Abatiell, Whit Butterfield, Roger Bresnahan, and Brownson Spencer received letters for their part in making this year's team State Champs.

Next year's team, which should give a good account of itself with eleven lettermen returning, will be headed by Co-Captains, Strat Anagnos, and "Ginger" Kent. Other vets returning include Bruce LaSante, Joe Cocklin, John Hansen, Jim Stathopolous, Al Ianni and Art Bowker. Sophomores, "Chuck" Lull, Wayne King and Bob Grady also earned their letters and will be back for two years' service, hoping to duplicate this year's outstanding team.

Varsity Basketball

Coach "Bundsie" Keefe's Red Raiders were potentially a good ball club but reached their potential only on scattered occasions, as they compiled only a fair record. Although the Warriors did lose more games than a Keefe-coached contingent has ever dropped in the past, the Keefesters were able to salvage 12 of their 26 starts.

This year was the first since Keefe took over the hoop helm at RHS that the Redskin hoopsters have ever lost more games than they have won, but the Redmen did turn in several outstanding performances.

Things looked good for the Raiders as they got off to a fast start with two quick wins over BFA and Whitehall. The Rutlanders ran head on into trouble after this, as they met five northern powerhouses and came out on the short end of the score. A loss to Curtis High of New York made the pre-SVL season record, 2-6. One of the highlights of the early season play was a thrilling 65-63 overtime loss to the Burlington Sea Horses, who later were crowned state champs and lost only one game in Vermont State play, a one point loss to Spaulding. This was the top game of the season, and the Redmen never attained this peak again in the duration of the schedule.

The RHS quintet emerged victorious in seven of their fourteen SVL assignments. With play in the league nip and tuck, this 7-7 record was good enough for a third place tie with cross-city rival MSJ.

Playing Keefe's characteristic defensive and possession-type ball, the Warriors seared the twines for 1175 points, averaging 45.1 counters per game. Defensively, the Rutlanders were out-scored as the opponents' artillery poured in 1283 points per game for a 49 plus average.

During league play the Redskins played the hot and cold ball game that plagued them all season. The Redmen earned the distinction of being one of two teams, to top second-place Brattleboro twice. Playing away from the home hunting grounds was heap bad medicine for the Keefemen. It took nine games on enemy courts before the RHSers came out on the long end of the score. The only teams to beat the high school quint twice were Springfield and Bellows Falls. In three games against the Cosmos, including a tournament game, the Warriors averaged only 33 points per game, while the league-leading Springfielders ran away with the game.

For the first time in some years it took a play-off win to gain a tourney berth. The Redmen toppled Bellows Falls 48-42 in a post-league season playoff to earn the right to meet Springfield in the Southern Vermont tournament. The scrappy Raiders stuck right with the Southern Champs for three periods before going down to 51-35 defeat.

Poor ballhandling and defense were the main obstacles in the Rutland cause, and the Redmen never completely overcame either. The Rutland cagers were steady in the pinch, however, as they took eight battles that went right to the wire, while dropping only four close ones.

The outlook for next year looks bright as both members of the one-two scoring punch that led the way for most of Rutland's victories will be back for another season. Hank Smith paced the scoring parade with 289 counters, finishing 12th in league play; while Dick Welch was right on the heels of the talented Rutland guard with 288 counters. Welch finished 11th in league play. Dick Thomas, Captain Jim Ballard and John Hansen also passed the 100 mark.

Keefe has plenty to look forward to for next year's quint. Only Jim Ballard, Dick Foltz, "Pete" Spaulding, and Dick Thomas will be lost via the graduation route. Returning will be veterans, Dick Welch, Hank Smith, John Hansen, Ken Wisell, Jim Burke, and "Chuck" Lull, plus a host of successful J.V. hard courtmen, fresh from a great season.

J. V. Basketball

Rutland High's Little Warriors, under Coach Flaitz, blasted through their first nine opponents without a setback and went on to compile an impressive 17-5 record. Springfield was the only J.V. quint to turn the tables on the Little Redskins twice. The Flaitzmen showed lots of spunk and will-to-win as they came from behind on several occasions to take thrilling victories.

The J.V.s were an all-around club as their point production per game averaged 44; while their opponents managed to drop in only 34 per tilt.

Jim Burke was tops in the point-making department with 198 points. Bruce LaSante and Wayne King with 119 each to their credit also proved to be noteworthy cagers. Other standouts on the Little Raiders' team were Jim Loveland and "Chuck" Lull.

Ski Team

This year Coach Peter Goshgarian and his ski team had a most successful season.

The Rutland hardwoodmen, under Ski Maestro Goshgarian, racked up impressive victories in their two meets, finished a close second to Putney in the district meet and gained a fourth place in the state finals.

Rutland opened the season with a victory in a five-way meet, topping teams from Woodstock, Burr & Burton, Middlebury, and Burlington. The big three, Captain Roger Bresnahan, Alden Van Buskirk, and "Rip" McManus, paced the Redmen to their first victory.

Woodstock and Springfield were the next to fall before the speedy Raider skiers. The trio, Bresnahan, Van Buskirk, and McManus, again led the Goshgarianmen to top spot.

Early in February, the nine-man team traveled to Middlebury to the district meet. The Raiders finished 1.45 points behind first place Putney, which really rolled in the cross-country. Perhaps our boys would have done better if the downhill event had been included, but because of the lack of time only slalom, jumping and cross-country were held. The one-two-three punch of the Warriors again ruled the roost.

The following week Rutland went to Northfield for the state finals. The Redskins finished fourth and played off with Lyndonville for a chance to represent Vermont in the New England finals, but they dropped the meet which consisted of jumping only. The Rutlanders did salvage one trophy, however, as they copped the Vermont State Downhill Championship handily.

The Rutland attack featured Captain Roger Bresnahan, Alden Van Burkirk, "Rip" McManus as the pace setters. Backing up these three boys, and making a well-balanced team, were Dick Manley, Joe Vargas, Dale Athey, Dick Thompson, and Arnie Sherman.

A good team is assured next year, for only Captain Bresnahan will graduate. However, hopes of a better team than this year's were dimmed when "Rip" McManus and brother Hank moved out of the state, depriving the 1955-56 edition of their talents.

 Row two: Donn Scott, Peter Franzoni, Donald Keefe, Harry Horton, Russell Shedd, James Carroll, Charles Lull, John Martell, Rudd Hendee, Mr. Albert Martin, Coach.

Varsity Baseball

Coach Al Martin opened the 1955 diamond season with pitching, his main headache. With six vets returning, and five other boys who had seen some action back for another try, the Rutland mentor was pretty well set except in the hurling department.

Shining performances by "Chuck" Armstrong, Russ Shedd and "Satch" Burke in the early contests, showed the mound department stronger than expected. Other hurling hopefuls included Harry Horton, "Jazz" Carroll, and Donn Scott.

With so many experienced men returning, few newcomers were able to break into the starting lineup. Norm Swanson was at the backstop position, with Jim Loveland at the initial sack. Hank Smith and Dick Welch formed the double play combo, with Jim Burke and John Maynes operating at the hot corner. Others vying for infield positions were Chuck Lull, John Martel, Pete Franzoni, and Joe Cocklin, and Rudd Hendee.

In the garden for the Redmen were Bob Smith, Dick Thomas, with Armstrong, "Satch" Burke and Shedd alternating in right field. "Ginger" Kent, Cecil White, Wayne King, Donnie Keefe, and Henry Daley were also outfield candidates.

Donning the Rutland uniform for the last time this year are Norm Swanson, Chuck Armstrong, Russ Shedd, Bob Smith, "Satch" Burke, Dick Thomas, and Donn Scott.

Track Team

Under the direction of Coach Dean Rippon the 1955 cindermen performed well, considering their lack of experience and manpower early in the season. Co-Captains, Jim Abatiell and Paul Carrara, led the Rutlanders through a season of meeting tough competition, but the Redskins made a good showing considering the talent they had to offer.

Besides Co-Captains Abatiell and Carrara, Paul Donahue, Adlore Devenow, Dick Foltz, Joe Cocklin, Jim Stathopolous, John Hansen, Merwyn Hedding, and Dick Dailey participated creditably in the meets.

Next year's thinclads will have to combat an experience and manpower shortage too, for Abatiell, Carrara, Donahue, Foltz, Devenow, Spencer, and Bresnahan, all stalwart trackmen, will leave via the graduation route.

"Yeh Red---Yeh White"

The cheerleaders deserve a good deal of credit for their enthusiastic urging of our teams on to victory.

The varsity cheering squad was comprised of seven members, four seniors and three juniors. Joan Looker and Carol Kallio were Co-Captains; the other members were Nancy Johnson and Mary Bordeau, seniors; and Andrea Bellerose, Virginia Flanders, and Norma Keefe, juniors.

To raise funds for new basketball uniforms, the cheerleaders sold programs at the football games. They also presented a dance, "The Kickoff," which not only brought money into the treasury, but also introduced the 1954 football season.

Junior Varsity

Row two: Betty Cioffi, Joan LaCoe, Jean Ann LaPoint, Irene Burke, Joanna Bartlett, Nancy Leonard, Loretta Bowen.
Row three: Joan Tomasi, Mary Prespare, Carol Tyler, Sandra Anderson.

A group of very vivacious underclassmen did a fine job of leading the "Little Warriors" to many victories. The group, consisting of eighteen girls, freshmen, sophomores, and including two substitutes, was divided into two squads. The squads cheered alternately at home games and also attended the West Rutland and Bellows Falls games, which were played away. Four girls will be chosen to replace the graduating Varsity cheerleaders.

Both the Varsity and Junior Varsity were very capably supervised by Mrs. Josephine Gray, Physical Education Instructor.

Field Hockey

Hockey was the first activity on the girls' sports program this year. A series of practice games was held before the class teams were formed. Norma Keefe and Donna Pierce were co-chairmen of the hockey program for the 1954 season. To round out the series of class games, the sophomores and juniors vied in the title game; the juniors were victorious by a 1-0 score. The same girls had been the champions in their sophomore year also. At the close of the season, this team of juniors was scheduled to meet with the Green Mountain Junior College team, but due to Mr. Weatherman, the game was cancelled.

 Row two: Mrs. Josephine Gray, Faculty Adviser; Isabelle Howland, Mary Prespare, Barbara LaCoe, Sally Edmunds, Judith Minard, Faith White, Beryl Armstrong, Jane Thomas.
 Row three: Patricia Sargent, Ruth Buxton, Neville Rodgers, Deanna Cook, Judith Robinson, Rose Cullinan.

Girls' Basketball

The Varsity Basketball team is a group of fourteen girls selected for their athletic ability, as well as for their sincere interest in the sport. Each year the team is scheduled to meet with teams from the surrounding towns; this year the teams met were Proctor, Wallingford, and Fair Haven. Although we lost to Proctor and Wallingford, we defeated Fair Haven 58-13.

The captains were Berle Armstrong, Barbara LaCoe, Edith Miles, and Judith Minard, alternately. Mrs. Josephine Gray was coach, and Joan Austin was manager.

Archery

This fall, for the first time, archery was included in the athletic program. The newly-established sport attracted the interest of many girls, and there will surely be more participants in the future. This group was composed of thirty girls; Betsy Ravit was the chairman.

Martha Hammond, Jane Thomas, Sandra Anderson, Lynn Day, Mary Prespare, Andrea Bellerose.

Ski Team

The skiing weather has been excellent this year. The girls' ski team has raced in three meets.

In their first meet, which was won by Montpelier, Vermont, five girls placed. The next meet, held in Putney, was won by Rutland with Mary Prespare, Andrea Bellerose, and Sandra Anderson taking second, third, and fourth places, respectively.

Due to the exceptionally long season and excellent skiing conditions, a late-season April meet was scheduled with Middlebury and Burlington participating.
